DR. J BOVEE DODS'
IMPERIAL WINE
BITTERS,

ARE made from a pure and unadulterated Wine, which is about double the usual strength of other Wines, and is imported by only one house in the United States. Also, from the following valuable Roots, Herbs, &c., viz: Solomon's Seal, Spikenard, Camomile Flowers, Gentian, Wild Cherry Tree Bark, and Bayberry.

WE CHALLENGE
THEIR EQUAL!

We do not profess to have discovered some Roots "known only to the Indians of South America," and a cure for "all diseases which flesh is heir to," but we claim to present to the public a truly valuable preparation, which every intelligent Physician in the country will approve of and recommend. As a remedy for

INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,

Weak Lungs, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Diseases of the Nervous System, Paralysis, Piles, Diseases peculiar to Females, Debility, and all cases requiring a Tonic, they are

UNSURPASSED!

For Sore Throat, so common among the Clergy, they are truly valuable.

For the aged and infirm, or for persons of a weak constitution—for Ministers of the Gospel, Lawyers, and all public speakers—for Book-Keepers, Tailors, Seamstresses, Students, Artists, and all persons leading a sedentary life, they will prove truly beneficial.

As a Beverage, they are wholesome, innocent, and delicious to the taste. They produce all the exhilarating effects of Brandy or Wine, without intoxicating; and are a valuable remedy for persons addicted to excessive use of strong drink, and wish to refrain from it. They are pure and entirely free from the poison contained in the adulterated Wines and Liquors with which the country is flooded.

These Bitters not only CURE, but PREVENT Disease, and should be used by all who live in a country where the water is bad, or where Chills and Fevers are prevalent. Being entirely innocent and harmless, they may be given freely to Children and Infants with impunity.

Physicians, Clergymen and temperance advocates, as an act of humanity, should assist in spreading these truly valuable BITTERS over the land, and thereby essentially aid in banishing Drunkenness and Disease.

DAILY GAZETTE.

The Gallant and Able General Reno.

Many are the true men who are now writing their names imperishably upon the pages of their country's history in their own blood. Among the latest, thus far, upon the distinguished roll of patriot martyrs, comes the name of RENO. The nation experienced no ordinary shock at the announcement of his death, because he is one of the men in high command who has succeeded in bringing himself near to the public heart. His conduct for the past year has shown that he was a true soldier, one of that class who are now so much needed, and who can be so illy spared. He seems to have been a soldier by choice, and consequently was a hero by intuition. When he entered the field it was to remain there until the work was done, or his capacity for performance was exhausted. No furloughs were asked or desired; no pompous proclamations were indulged in; no jealousies were encouraged; no quarrels about rank or leadership were sought—the best evidences of quackery in the profession of arms! He had become a soldier to fight, and in fighting he fought for something higher than self.

He was a man of the Lyon stamp—equally devoted to his profession and his country. Had these men lived in the days of chivalry, they would have shone among the most famous of knights. They are of the school of earnest, fearless men, who become conspicuous only in times which try men's souls! Their's is the higher ambition of duty, which does not seek to rise above the occasion, and which never falls below it. Hence war is their element, just as troubled waters may be the element of the strong swimmer, who can rise superior to them, while weak men sink.

Gen. Reno was a native of Virginia—a bright feature in his history, proving him faithful among so many faithless. In this particular, it is true, he is not a solitary exception. Many of our truest men are from the Old Dominion. Strange would it be if there were no worthy sons of so many noble sires. The fact of his nativity, however, is not to be overlooked. He was regarded by army officers as among the most promising of the younger members of the regular service. In Mexico he distinguished himself when yet little more than a boy, having entered the service from the Military Academy during the war, and being brevetted as captain for gallant and meritorious service, before its close.

Having received a brigadier's commission, he was assigned to a command under Burnside, in North Carolina. Here he was one of the prominent heroes of Roanoke Island and Newbern. Returning with Burnside to Virginia, his record under Pope is so recent and conspicuous that we need not recapitulate. He has now most worthily closed a brief, but most honorable career, in the hour of victory. The fame of such men, however, does not die with them. Their names continus to live in the hearts of grateful countrymen.

Reno is but one of many. When the volume of this war is closed, it will be filled with the record of such instances. We mourn for them now, but it is to be hoped their blood falls not in vain. The cause of all this sacrifice will then be held to a stern accountability.—Missouri Democrat.

DR. J BOVEE DODS' IMPERIAL WINE

BITTERS,

ARE made from a pure and unadulterated Wine, which is about double the usual strength of other Wines, and is imported by only one house in the United States. Also, from the following valuable Roots, Herbs, &c., viz: Solomon's Seal, Spikenard, Camomile Flowers, Gentian, Wild Cherry Tree Bark, and Bayberry.

THEIR EQUAL!

We do not profess to have discovered some Roots "known only to the Indians of South America," and a cure for "all diseases which flesh is heir to," but we claim to present to the public a truly valuable preparation, which every intelligent Physician in the country will approve of and recommend. As a remedy for

INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,

Weak Lungs, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Diseases of the Nervous System, Paralysis, Piles, Diseases peculiar to Females, Debility, and all cases requiring a Tonic, they are

UNSURPASSED!

For Sore Throat, so common among the Clergy, they are truly valuable.

For the aged and infirm, or for persons of a weak constitution—for Ministers of the Gospel, Lawyers, and all public speakers—for Book-Keepers, Tailors, Seamstresses, Students, Artists, and all persons leading a sedentary life, they will prove truly beneficial.

As a Beverage, they are wholesome, innocent, and delicious to the taste. They produce all the exhilarating effects of Brandy or Wine, without intoxicating; and are a valuable remedy for persons addicted to excessive use of strong drink, and wish to refrain from it. They are pure and entirely free from the poison contained in the adulterated Wines and Liquors with which the country is flooded.

These Bitters not only CURE, but PREVENT Disease, and should be used by all who live in a country where the water is bad, or where Chills and Fevers are prevalent. Being entirely innocent and harmless, they may be given freely to Children and Infants with impunity.

Physicians, Clergymen and temperance advocates, as an act of humanity, should assist in spreading these truly valuable BITTERS over the land, and thereby essentially aid in banishing Drunkenness and Disease.

DAILY GAZETTE.

The Gallant and Able General Reno.

Many are the true men who are now writing their names imperishably upon the pages of their country's history in their own blood. Among the latest, thus far, upon the distinguished roll of patriot martyrs, comes the name of RENO. The nation experienced no ordinary shock at the announcement of his death, because he is one of the men in high command who has succeeded in bringing himself near to the public heart. His conduct for the past year has shown that he was a true soldier, one of that class who are now so much needed, and who can be so illy spared. He seems to have been a soldier by choice, and consequently was a hero by intuition. When he entered the field it was to remain there until the work was done, or his capacity for performance was exhausted. No furloughs were asked or desired; no pompous proclamations were indulged in; no jealousies were encouraged; no quarrels about rank or leadership were sought—the best evidences of quackery in the profession of arms. He had become a soldier to fight, and in fighting he fought for something higher than self.

He was a man of the Lyon stamp—equally devoted to his profession and his country. Had these men lived in the days of chivalry, they would have shone among the most famous of knights. They are of the school of earnest, fearless men, who become conspicuous only in times which try men's souls. Their's is the higher ambition of duty, which does not seek to rise above the occasion, and which never falls below it. Hence war is their element, just as troubled waters may be the element of the strong swimmer, who can rise superior to them, while weak men sink.

Gen. Reno was a native of Virginia—a bright feature in his history, proving him faithful among so many faithless. In this particular, it is true, he is not a solitary exception. Many of our truest men are from the Old Dominion. Strange would it be if there were no worthy sons of so many noble sires. The fact of his nativity, however, is not to be overlooked. He was regarded by army officers as among the most promising of the younger members of the regular service. In Mexico he distinguished himself when yet little more than a boy, having entered the service from the Military Academy during the war, and being brevetted as captain for gallant and meritorious service, before its close.

Having received a brigadier's commission, he was assigned to a command under Burnside, in North Carolina. Here he was one of the prominent heroes of Roanoke Island and Newbern. Returning with Burnside to Virginia, his record under Pope is so recent and conspicuous that we need not recapitulate. He has now most worthily closed a brief, but most honorable career, in the hour of victory. The fame of such men, however, does not die with them. Their names continue to live in the hearts of grateful countrymen.

Reno is but one of many. When the volume of this war is closed, it will be filled with the record of such instances. We mourn for them now, but it is to be hoped their blood falls not in vain. The cause of all this sacrifice will then be held to a stern accountability.—Missouri Democrat.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills.—How strange and wonderful it often seems to us that a medicine composed of simple mountain herbs and roots, should so certainly search out and cure disease. How surprising that the Indians should know and preserve so long and well a secret that has escaped the search of the greatest physicians the world has ever seen. True, the ancient inhabitants of Mexico were a strange race, found by the Spaniards living in large cities, and allowing for their strange customs and religion as well civilized as their conquerors. In the words of a writer of some celebrity, "They have perished from the earth, their cities are gigantic piles of ruins, their Kings and Princes so mighty in their life, are forgotten; their ruins and their medicine alone are left." The united testimony of all intelligent persons is, that JUDSON'S MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS are the most successful medicine in the world in curing disease.

OVER THE POST OFFICE.

THERE is nothing so much sought for by the public as a practical Sewing Machine, one that is Simple, Strong & Reliable.

One that will run for years without the annoyance of being out of repair; one that is noiseless and swift in motion; also that makes the stitch as you want it, alike on both sides of the fabric; such are the machines of the

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE COMPANY.

Who take pleasure in placing their Machines before the public, and unhesitatingly say they are the best in the world, and openly and publicly challenge machines of any and all manufactures to do as large a range of work as can easily be done on one of these machines. They make

and have all the advantage of a reversible feed motion, which carries the work either way, which, together with making all the four stitches, can be done whilst the machine is in motion; the saving of time in stopping to change the length of stitch, is obviated by this machine.

Any correspondence regarding our Machines will be promptly answered. Enclose a Letter stamp and we will send circular and sample of work by return mail.

BOURBON WHISKEY

FOR

Medical Use.

Circular to Physicians and Others.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 1, 1862.

The undersigned respectfully calls the attention of the Medical Faculty of the United States, to the following correspondence between a number of the most respectable and influential physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and the writer. WM. T. CUTTER, Jr.

NEW YORK, May 1, 1861.

Mr. Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky.:—

DEAR SIR:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whisky as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacturers of Whisky in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to enquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whisky for the use of the sick. Drs. Valentine Mott, Willard Parker, and others:

GENTLEMEN:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper-distilled Bourbon Whisky, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. All orders addressed to Mr. John M. Carter, (late Druggist and Apothecary of this city,) now of New York, 170 Washington street, will be promptly attended to.

Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c., I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,

The Harper's Ferry Matter.

It is still believed at Washington that there was treachery in the surrender of Harper's Ferry. Col. Miles is the same officer who was accused of drunkenness at Bull Run, and his neglect to bring up the reserve at that time lost us the battle. His conduct was such that it is incomprehensible how the government would again permit him to hold an important position. But all such traitors seem to bring influence enough to bear to screen them punishment. It is now stated positively that Miles ordered Ford three times to surrender the heights of Maryland, before he obeyed. However, the guilty parties will be discovered in time.

Gen. Meagher not Killed.

It was reported at first that Gen. Meagher was killed in the battle of Wednesday. It now turns out that he was not even wounded. His horse was shot and fell on him, stunning him for a time. He was carried off the field in a litter, which gave rise to the rumor that he was mortally wounded.

Sibley's Expedition Captured.

News has been received in New York, by way of Texas, that Sibley's troops which captured Santa Fe last summer, finally retreated towards El Paso. In the vicinity of Fort Fillmore they were intercepted by the troops from California, who, with Gen. Canby who was close at hand, defeated them, killing one-half and capturing the remainder, except about one hundred who escaped with Gen. Sibley and Col. Steele. These officers were afterwards assassinated by their own men, on account of their mismanagement and drunkenness.

Result of the Recent Battles.

The news from Gen. McClellan's army, to-day, renders it certain that the rebels have successfully escaped. They have not been attacked in flank by Sigel or Heintzelman, as was hoped, because, we presume, those generals were not ordered to perform such a duty. Instead of the rear of the rebel army being attacked their cavalry have recrossed the Potomac and returned without material harm. What is the result of the loss of 15,000 wounded and slain on our side? Perhaps an equal number on the side of the enemy. It does not bring us nearer to the end of the war. The whole campaign is to be fought over again, and more lives lost. It should not discourage us, for we must triumph, but it will not be until we do right, and inscribe LIBERTY on our banner as well as UNION.

Natchez Captured.

Com. Porter, with his steamer Essex, while passing Natchez about the 1st of this month, sent on shore for some ice, and his boat was fired upon. He immediately brought his guns to bear upon the town, for about two hours and a half, when it surrendered. He then passed down to Bayou Sara, and destroyed every house in it but two—one belonging to a Union man, and the other to a lady. The Essex had a fight with a battery of 34 heavy guns at Port Hudson, and completely silenced it. In this contest the iron-clad Essex was unharmed, although stationed not more than eighty feet from the battery.

The Victory at Iuka.

Gen. Rosecrans and his troops have won a decided victory at Iuka. The loss of the enemy will reach 750, while ours was 75 killed and about 250 wounded. Our forces also captured 500 prisoners, thirty-six pieces of artillery, besides small arms, tents, &c. The force on our side was 5,000; that of the enemy about 15,000.

It is probable that our Wisconsin 12th battery was in this battle, as they were stationed in the region where it occurred, and the dispatch says that a Wisconsin battery was present. The fifth Wisconsin battery has been at Corinth for some time, and it is possible that it may be the one referred to.

☞ The rebels burnt the pontoon bridge at Harper's Ferry, but were unable to destroy the railroad bridge, which is, however, damaged to some extent.

Special dispatch to the New York Tribune.

The Great Battle of Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Sept. 18.

The following dispatch has been received from one of your special correspondents:

Battle-field of Sharpsburg, Md., Wednesday Evening, Sept. 17.

The greatest battle of the war was fought to-day, lasting from daylight till dark, and closing without decisive result. The whole forces of McClellan and Lee were engaged for fourteen hours. Two hundred thousand men have fought with the utmost determination on both sides. Neither can claim a complete victory, but McClellan has partly carried the rebel position, holding most favorable ground for renewing the attack, and holding all the ground which was gained at any time during the fight.

All our own dead and wounded, and many of the enemy's are in our hands.

On the left of the rebel position, Hooker, Sumner and Franklin have crossed Antietam creek, and have driven the enemy from the ground they chose to cover their flanks in front of our batteries, and troops have steadily advanced and occupy to-night a range of hills considerably beyond those first taken.

On the rebel right, they have lost the bridge over the creek, which was carried after a hard fight, and Burnside has cross with all his forces.

The result of the day's fight, therefore, is that the rebels have everywhere lost ground, their position is contracted, both flanks attacked with success, and their rear and only line of retreat seriously threatened.

After the brilliant victory on Sunday at South Mountain, near Middletown, McClellan pushed his army rapidly forward, sending cavalry and artillery out on the Hagerstown road, Burnside through Fox Gap to the Sharpsburg road, and the rest of his forces through Boonesboro to Keedysville, and thence to Sharpsburg.

On the crest of the hill this side of Sharpsburg, the enemy were discovered in great force. Their troops had been brought down from Hagerstown, up from Harper's Ferry, and part of the army held in Virginia as reserve. Lee, Jackson, Longstreet, Hill, and all the best generals left with them were there, and with all of their best troops.

Except occasional artillery contests, the armies faced each other in quiet during the rest of Monday.

On Tuesday there was no movement on our side till toward night. The rebels had kept their batteries in position, but their infantry was withdrawn from view, and it was still uncertain whether they were retreating or reinforcing.

About 4 in the afternoon of Tuesday, Hooker was ordered to cross Antietam creek, at the upper ford on the right, with his whole corps, attack the enemy's left, and occupy a position on their flank. He crossed without opposition, sent forward cavalry skirmishers, who were speedily driven back, and then, advancing with his whole force about 6, took possession of strong ground, close to the rebel's left, and immediately became engaged with artillery and infantry. Darkness ended the fight with slight loss on either side, Hooker carrying and holding the woods from which the enemy's fire first came.

There were constant alarms during the night, the hostile pickets being close to each other all along the line. Early in the evening the rebels took to fighting among themselves, and several heavy volleys were delivered there before they discovered their mistake.

At daybreak the fight was renewed suddenly and vehemently, both sides opening fire together. The number and position of the rebel batteries the evening before had disclosed that they were in great force on the right, and word had been sent to McClellan to advance Sumner's corps during the night. It did not arrive on the field till 9 in the morning.

McClellan's plan of battle was briefly as follows: Hooker was to cross the creek on the right, as before stated; Sumner, Franklin, and Mansfield to co-operate with and sustain his attack. In front the batteries were to push forward with infantry supports, and an effort to be made to carry the hights on the left. Burnside was to cross the creek by the bridge, and attack the rebel right, moving on Sharpsburg also, which was in their rear, and thus cut off their retreat. Porter and Sykes were held in reserve. The plan, if successful, must result not merely in the defeat but the destruction or surrender of the rebel army. The ground is peculiar.

The rebel line was formed on a crescent-shaped ridge, which in front slopes down into an undulating valley irregularly broken by connecting ranges of hills. Behind the crest the rebel forces lay in uneven and strong positions, sheltered by ridges and hills, and especially strong on the flanks. Antietam Creek, a stream too deep to be forded except in very few places sweeps by the base of their position and protected it from assault.

McClellan's forces were first formed in front, afterward thrown to the right and left. There is little or no ground on our side equal in hight to the rebel position.

Hooker sustained, unaided, the attack on the rebel left force nearly four hours. His line had been formed the night before and fought to-day in the same order. Ricketts' division was on the left, Meade's Pennsylvania reserves in the center, Doubleday's division on the right. These terms are, of course, to be understood as referring only to Hooker's line, not to the whole field. There was artillery at all points. Meade gained ground in his first attack.

Ricketts also went forward through the woods in his front, and Doubleday, with his guns, held front against a heavy cannonade. Meade advancing, finally met a heavy body of fresh troops thrown suddenly and vigorously against him and was driven back over part of the ground he had just won. Ricketts' line was at the same time hard pressed and became deserted. Mansfield, who had come over the creek the night before, was ordered into the woods to Ricketts' support, and Hartsuff's brigade, part of Doubleday's command, was sent to sustain Meade. Mansfield took the greatest part of his troops to Ricketts' help, but they were unable to extend their line, and in the effort to push forward his men, Gen. Mansfield was mortally wounded. Gen. Hartsuff advanced to the relief of Meade with the 12th and 13th Massachusetts and another regiment. The Pennsylvania troops were retiring in haste and some confusion. Hartsuff seized a bridge in front of the field over which the rebels were pressing, and held it in splendid style for more than half an hour against a greatly superior attack. His men behaved most gallantly, standing on this exposed ground firing steadily and never wavering once.

Gen. Hartsuff was very soon severely wounded. His troops retained their position, and finally, by the precision and rapidity of their fire, compelling the enemy to retreat instantly, advanced in pursuit, while they had been engaged, Hooker ordered up Crawford's and Gordon's brigades to their support. Hartsuff retained the advance, and Crawford and Gordon followed in support. A rebel battery on the right, which had been most annoying by an enfilading fire, was about the same time silenced by Doubleday's guns, and Hooker ordered his whole line forward.

The rebels were driven through the cornfield again into the woods beyond, where they could not easily be dislodged without artillery. Gen. Hooker, who all the morning had kept himself under fire, and generally in the hottest of it, rode forward to examine the ground in front in order to plant a battery. As he rode up the hill he became a conspicuous mark for the rebel sharpshooters; their fire increased very suddenly, and Gen. Hooker was wounded in the left foot, a bullet passing entirely through it. The wound was excessively severe and painful, and he was compelled to leave the field. Three men were shot down by his side at the same moment he was wounded.

Up to this time the attack has been a success. The hardest fought ground was in the undisputed possession of Hooker's troops, and his last order, as he was borne from the field, was, that Crawford's and Gordon's brigades should immediately advance and carry the woods to the right. The whole line had gone forward with the wildest cheering, and everything looked like a complete and speedy success. At this fortunate moment, Gen. Sumner arrived on the field at the head of his veteran corps. Pursuing the forward movement, he led his men immediately against the rebel line and to the support of Crawford. Sedgwick's division, the flower of the Peninsula army, advanced on the right, Richardson and French at a considerable interval on the left. The first volley from Sedgwick's troops was tremendous, but it was answered by a heavier one.

Crawford had found the rebels in great force in the woods, and was already in need of assistance. Sedgwick's flank also became exposed on the left in consequence of the distance between him and the other divisions.

The rebels perceived their advantages, and at the same time pressing Crawford and attacking on Sedgwick's, broke Crawford's which fell back in confusion on Sedgwick. The 34th New York on the left was forced to give way at the same time, and the woods were yielded to the enemy.

Gen. Sedgwick was severely wounded in the shoulder, leg and wrist, but refused to leave the field till his division retired.

Gen. Howard then took command, and ordered the division in the rear. Major Sedgwick, aid of Gen. Sedgwick, was shot through the body, but is not mortally wounded. Many of the regiments suffered most severely. The 15th Massachusetts lost nine out of seventeen officers, whose names are given in the list annexed. Col. Hinks, of the 19th Massachusetts, was killed. Col. Wistar, 1st California, was severely wounded. The 34th New York could gather but thirty-four men when rallied.

French and Richardson meantime held a position well to the left and less in advance and kept it. Gen. Richardson, not long after, was severely wounded in the shoulder while leading a bolting regiment. Gen. Dana, of Sedgwick's division, was wounded but not severely. Gen. Sumner found himself obliged by this reverse to withdraw his lines to their first position, where he held them firmly. He had been exposed during all the action to the hottest of the fire. Col. Revere of his staff was wounded in the arm; Capt. Audenried in the leg.

Gen. Franklin arrived with his corps about one o'clock, sending Gen. Slocum's division to the left and in front. General Smith's was advanced over the same ground which had just been lost. His gallant Maine and Vermont troops went in at double quick, driving the rebels before them, and on the fences and beyond the woods, and again took the point, this time not to be given up. This was accomplished by 3 o'clock.

Meanwhile the forces in front of the whole line had been gaining some ground. Hard fighting all along the line has continued at intervals through the day. French and Slocum were well toward the center. It was time to hear from Burnside, who had been long delayed in his effort to carry the bridge.

At 4 o'clock, McClellan sent orders to Burnside to cross at once, at all hazards, and capture or silence the battery in front. The bridge was captured in gallant style, but with loss of Col. Kingsbury and 500 killed and wounded. Burnside, when once across, advanced on the Rebel right, along the Sharpsburg road and up the slopes of the hill. A position of great importance was carried at first by his impetuous attack, but was afterward abandoned, as the Rebels were able to bring ten heavy masses of troops from the center and left to oppose Burnside.

Our attack on the left having ceased for the time, Sumner and Franklin were ordered by McClellan to hold their own, and the advance of Burnside was relied on to decide the day. Darkness was near before he was over the creek, and the forces against him too strong for his numbers. He, therefore, was oblige to content himself with defending the brigade and his position beyond, and the final attack was postponed till to-morrow. The fire on both sides died away gradually, and at 7 o'clock the battle was over for the day. Its result I have stated above. It was everywhere very desperately contested, and the loss on both sides is very large. Ten Generals on our side are killed and wounded.

I sent a list of killed and wounded officers and men, all that could be obtained to-night. The whole number connot be less than 10,000.

Death of Col. Bragg.

We learn that a dispatch was received in Fond du Lac yesterday, announcing that Lieut. Col. Edward S. Bragg of the 6th Wisconsin, was killed in the battle of Wednesday last. Col. Bragg was in command of the 6th regiment, Col. Cutler being absent on account of his wounds. That Col. B. conducted himself bravely and well, no one who knows him will ever doubt. He was well known to the people of this State as an able lawyer, and a most energetic man. He took up arms in the behalf of the Union at an early day, and has made an able and fearless officer. His loss will be severely felt by his many friends in this State. He leaves a young family, to whom the loss will be irreparable.—Madison Journal.

Legislative.

The Assembly has spent the day in committee of the whole on the bill allowing the volunteers to vote. Most of the time was occupied by frivolous amendments offered by the opponents of the bill, and the consequent voting and discussion to which they gave rise.—Madison Journal, Saturday.

DRAFTING IN WISCONSIN.—The Milwaukee Wisconsin, of Saturday, says: "Gov. Salomon telegraphed yesterday that four companies were needed for the 36th regiment, and asked that one of them be recruited in Milwaukee. He also said that drafting would be resorted to in Wisconsin, and soon too."

SALT LAKE, Sept. 22.

Chas. McBride, from Virginia City, arrived here yesterday. He is one of a party of fifteen bound for the states. The party was attacked by Snake Indians at City Rocks, Humboldt route, 150 miles north. They fought the Indians twenty miles, losing six killed, two wounded, and all their outfit. John Conner, John Sharpe, Benj. White, Jas. Snow, Wm. Davis and —— Goodman, killed; John Foster and Sam. Kelly, arms broken. Reports of Indian depredations northward are coming in daily, and much trouble is expected to late emigration.

Saturday Night's Report.

HEAD QUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Saturday Morning, Sept. 20.

The rebel army has succeeded in making its escape from Maryland. They commenced to leave about dusk Thursday evening, and by daylight yesterday morning were all over except a small rear guard. They saved all their transportation and carried off all their wounded but about 300. Between 300 and 400 rebel stragglers were taken during the day by Pleasanton's cavalry, who took the advance. Nearly every house in Sharpsburg was struck by our shells. Two were burned. Citizens who remained escaped injury by staying in their cellars. The name given to this battle is the Antietan. After our forces occupied the whole field, the rebel loss was found to be far greater, particularly in killed, than was at first supposed.

Full 2,500 were found lying on the field, while a large number had been buried the day before by their friends. Their loss, in killed and wounded, will not come far from 18,000 to 20,000. Gen. Clark, of the rebel army, was killed, and Gens. Ripley, Walker and Hays were wounded. The rebels, Thursday night, burnt the bridge and several houses at Harper's Ferry. Citizens of Sandy Hook were fleeing into the country, on Thursday night, to escape being impressed into the rebel service and carried into Virginia. Large details of men were made this morning to bury the remaining dead, which had become offensive.

Our troops are in excellent spirits at our result. The rebels are still visible on the opposite shore, in force. They have posted a large amount of artillery to prevent our forces from crossing the river. Officers of the army are unanimously of opinion that Hooker, for his gallantry and bravery, should be made a Brigadier General in the regular army, made vacant by the death of Mansfield.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 20.

No information has been received at headquarters here up to noon to-day, from either of the armies in Maryland.

Private dispatches say the enemy is not to be seen at any point, and that McClellan is still in pursuit. The sick and wounded of our army are expected to reach here to-day from Hagerstown.

FREDERICK, Md., Sept. 20.

A gentleman who left Boonsboro last night says that the firing was between ours and the rebel batteries across the river, the latter endeavoring to prevent our pursuit. Many conflicting reports were received here during the day of skirmishing with the rear guard of the enemy, who were in full flight for the Potomac. A gentleman who left McClellan's headquarters before the messenger started, was informed that at 4 o'clock Burnside had crossed the Potomac, and was harrassing the rebels' rear.

Latest reports received are that the rebels were forced to destroy a large portion of their trains and spike and abandon much of their artillery to prevent falling into our hands, so closely were they pursued by the Union army.

General McClellan rode out towards the front at 11 o'clock, and was loudly cheered by the troops as he rode along.

CAIRO, Sept. 20.

Special to Chicago Journal.—Two hundred and ten additional negro women and children have just arrived from below. Some fifty white refugees from Mississippi and Alabama arrived last evening and went on this morning's train north. They are as utterly destitute and helpless as the negroes. They were shipped to this place at government expense, and from this place at the rate of two cents a mile, the government footing that bill also. Thus it will be seen that the aristocracy of the south not only crushes the negro, and makes him a public burthen, but that it reduces the non-slaveholding whites to the same level.

No arrivals from Memphis to-day.

CAIRO, Sept. 20.

Gen. Rosecrans commenced moving from Rienzi towards Iuka yesterday morning. During the afternoon his advance came in contact with the enemy's pickets, when heavy skirmishing ensued which continued until nightfall. The fight was renewed in the morning and continued until nearly noon, when the enemy gave way, retreating in a southerly direction.

As yet we have but few particulars. Our loss is stated to be four or five hundred killed and wounded.

The enemy's loss is not ascertained, but is believed to be greater than ours. Gen. Little, formerly governor of Mississippi, is killed, and Gen. Whitefield is reported wounded and taken prisoner.

Rebels estimate the forces under Price at 15,000.

The battle took place two miles east of Iuka. Gen. Rosecrans is in pursuit of the enemy.

BUFFALO, Sept. 20.

The Board of Trade had a large and enthusiastic meeting this noon after change. Geo. S. Mazzard presided. Gen. Walbridge, of N. Y. addressed them at length. He urged the necessity of enlarging the facilities of water communication between the east and the west, so that our iron clad fleets could pass from the Mississippi river into the lakes and down the St. Lawrence or come through to the Hudson, as a great military necessity in the event of a foreign war; and demonstrated that by such increased means of transportation the west would be stimulated to augment the export of breadstuffs to such an extent they could place the same in Europe at a price below the ability of the cultivator to produce it, and that so soon as this was permanently accomplished it would guarantee perpetual peace between the continents.

Gen. Walbridge's address was received with great favor. He presented strong constitutional Union resolutions which were enthusiastically adopted.

Last Night's Report.

General Order, Navy Department, Sept. 20.

Commander Geo. Henry Preble, senior officer in command of blockading force off Mobile, having been guilty of neglect of duty in permitting the armed steamer Ovito to run the blockade, is, by order of the President, dismissed from the navy service from this date.

U. S. Steam Sloop of War Oneida, Off Mobile, Sept. 4th, 1862.

To Hon. GIDEON WELLES, Sec. of Navy: Sir—I regret to inform you that a two-masted screw steamer, bearing an English red ensign and pennant, and carrying four quarter-boats, a battery of eight broadside guns, one or two pivots, and having every appearance of an English man of-war, ran the blockade this afternoon, under the following circumstances: I had sent the Winona to windward to speak a schooner standing on under sail. The smoke of a steamer was discovered bearing about southeast, and standing directly for us. Observing she was burning black smoke, I immediately got under weigh and stood towards her, signaling to the Winona to chase at discretion.

We soon neared the stranger in company with the Winona, who, as she approached, gradually hauled to the windward. When abreast of her, and about 100 yards distant, I hailed him, but received no answer. I then fired a shot across his bows; he still ranged ahead without stopping, but still thinking him an English man-of-war, I fired two more shots across his bow, and then directed a shot at him which went over between his fore and main mast. He soon hauled down his flag and trained his guns to bear on us, but having no flag to fight under was afraid to fire. We continued firing at him, assisted by the Winona and one of the mortar schooners, but he made sail and by his superior speed and unparalled audacity, managed to escape us. We sent our shot all around and over him, and are certain that several of our shell and the Winona's struck him.

With great mortification, your obedient servant, (Signed)
GEO. HENRY PREBLE, Com'dr.
To Rear Admiral D. G. Farragut, Com'dg.

OMAHA, Sept. 20.

Messengers dispatched by acting Governor Paddock to the northern settlements of the territory two hundred miles from here, reports that the panic created by the massacres in Minnesota has entirely subsided; that the settlers had returned to their homes. There are now no hostile Indians within the limits of this territory, and not the remotest probability of any trouble to the settlers in any section from Indian depredations.

CAIRO, Sept. 21.

Special to Chicago Tribune.—I have received the following special dispatch from the manager of the Corinth office, in answer to a telegram in which I asked for a list of casualties among the federal officers in the late engagement:

HEADQUARTERS GEN. GRANT, CORINTH, Sept. 21.

Our loss in the late battle is less than at first supposed, and that of the enemy much greater. Our loss in killed is seventy-five—wounded between two and three hundred. The enemy's loss in killed, wounded and missing is seven hundred and fifty.

Col. Bonner, of the 26th Missouri, is severely wounded, and Col. Chambers of the 16th Iowa slightly. Gen. Hamilton's aid-de-camp was killed at the commencement of the battle.

The forces engaged were the 5th, 10th, 15th, 16th, 17th Iowa and 26th Missouri infantry, some Wisconsin battery, and I think Buell's battery. (Signed)
G. S. SKINNER, Operator.

IUKA, Sept. 20.

To Major General Halleck:—Rosecrans, with Stanley and Hamilton's division and Mizner's cavalry, attacked Price south of this village, two hours before dark yesterday, and had a sharp fight until night closed in; Ord was to the north with 5,000 men. Had some skirmishing with the enemy this morning. Fight renewed by Rosecranz, who was nearest town, but it was found that the enemy had been evacuating during the night. Hamilton's and Stanley's cavalry are in pursuit. Loss on either side in killed and wounded four to five hundred. The enemy's loss of tents, arms, etc., will be large. We have two hundred and fifty prisoners. I have reliable intelligence that it was Price's intention to move into East Tennessee. In this he has failed. Among the enemy's loss are Gen. Little, killed, and Gen. Whitford, wounded. Price's force was about 18,000.
(Signed) U. S. GRANT.

IUKA, Sept. 21.

Special to Chicago Tribune.—Col. Gifford, aid to the governor of Iowa, and W. Goodsmith, agent of the sanitary commission, have just arrived by special train from Corinth with three cars loaded with sanitary and hospital stores for the relief of the sick and wounded in the late battle here. This is the first train through since the battle.

CAIRO, Sept. 21.

Gen. Rosecrans has taken six batteries, thirty-six pieces of cannon, and five hundred prisoners. Hurrah for E PLURIBUS UNUM!

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.

Special to Tribune.—We have just received a brief dispatch from one of our special correspondents, who returned this afternoon to Frederick from our advance lines. Heavy firing was going on all day yesterday. He says there was both cannonading and musketry, and many wounded were being brought in. Our troops had crossed the Potomac in large force, and were fighting on the other side. The rest of the army had advanced to the river. In the fighting so far, we had the decided advantage of the rebels. Yesterday we captured a whole brigade of them, 2,000 in number. This correspondent asserts, upon the testimony of his own eyes. When he left the field at midnight, Saturday, firing had not ceased.

Special to the Times, dated on the Potomac opposite Shepardstown, Saturday, 3 p. m., says: In a reconnoisance this morning the 118th Pennsylvania had 14 killed and 120 wounded, including Col. Provost and Adjt. McKean wounded. There was some loss in other regiments. A number are reported taken prisoners. On Saturday the enemy crossed at Williamsport, but were driven back by the advance of our army, assisted by Pennsylvania militia, the attack at Black's Ford disturbing their movement. Williamsport is now occupied by us in strong force. The rebels hoped, in crossing here, to turn McClellan's right flank, but failed.

The Herald's special reports the loss of the 4th Michigan in their reconnoisance as Lieut. Gordon, company I, killed, and eight privates wounded. Acting Brig. Barnes' brigade, which subsequently made a reconnoisance, had a fight with the enemy.—Hearing cannonading and not knowing but a general engagement might ensue, hosts of regiments came hurrying towards the river, and directly opposite Shepardstown was Griffin's brigade, every moment expecting Morrill would order them across the river. Sykes also went across the river with the regiments attached to his command, and during the battle was prominent in the thickest of the fight.

FREDERICK, Sept. 20, 10 P. M.

Herald's special.—A dispatch dated opposite Shepardstown, this noon, says, "Everything quiet here, to-day!" During last night there was considerable firing between our pickets and those of the enemy on the other side of the river. At six o'clock this morning a number of the enemy, supposed to be a brigade, showed themselves on the opposite side, and poured a volley of musketry into our army camp. Our batteries, Capt. Walters', Martin's and Hazlett's, soon opened, concentrating their fire on the rebels, causing them to disappear. This morning a flag of truce was sent over the river asking permission to bury our dead, which was granted, and it is believed the enemy must be out of artillery ammunition, from their not responding to our guns. For some time there has not been a rebel seen on the opposite bank. It is thought they have all fallen back. It would not be proper to state the disposition or movements of our troops, but it is probable that important news may be expected from McClellan's army within the next two or three days.

Gen. Couch's division, which left Harper's Ferry at 10 o'clock this morning, report everything quiet there, and no signs of rebel forces in that vicinity. Large numbers of rebel soldiers are scattered about the mountains, and surrendering themselves to our officers. The rebel army appears to be completely demoralized, and in process of dispersion. Hundreds of wounded continue to pass through here hourly, enroute north. It is believed by citizens that the rebels lost at least 5000 men by desertion during the raid into Maryland. There were scarcely sufficient recruits obtained to form a company.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.

Special to Herald.—A number of wounded officers arrived here during the day, among them Hooker, his wound is dangerous only so far as it is liable to superinduce lockjaw. The General is attended by his staff. As Mr. Chase and other members of the cabinet manifest apprehensions touching the condition of Hooker, it is inferred that it is intended to give him an important command, perhaps the western department. The President, to-day, appointed Hooker a Brigadier General in the regular army, in recognition of his valuable services.

Frigate Hartford, Pensacola Bay, Sept. 13.

SIR: I regret to be compelled again to make another mortifying acknowledgment of apparent neglect, namely, the running of the blockade at Mobile by a 10-gun gunboat, supposed to be Layard's gunboat, Capt. Bullock. You will perceive, however, from Capt. Preble's report, herein enclosed, that there was no want of vigilance. They saw her in good time, but failed to sink or capture her. Why Capt. Preble did not fire into her after she failed to stop or answer his hail, I cannot imagine. The commander of the Rachael, Seaman, says, and I believe they all admit, that there never was a fairer opportunity for stopping a vessel until she passed them. Then, however, when it was too late, they began firing, the Oneida first, the Winona next, and the Rachael, Seaman, last.

Very respectfully your ob't serv't,
D. G. FARRAGUT,
Rear Admiral, Commanding West Gulf Squadron.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.

Gov. Curtin telegraphs from Hagerstown, notifying all military organizations to wait at home for further orders. Probably all danger is removed, the rebel army being in full retreat up the Shenandoah.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.

Satisfactory evidence having been submitted that Capt. Salomon J. Houck, 71st Ohio volunteers, did not advise the surrender of Clarksville, Tenn., that he signed the card under a misapprehension of its contents, the president directs that so much of general order No. 120, as cashiered him, be revoked.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 21.

A dispatch from Lagrange says, to-day Geo. Jesse, with 200 rebel cavalry, attacked at Newcastle 120 of Robt. Morris' home guard cavalry. Morris, without firing a gun, surrendered the men, horses, and 300 stand of arms.

Reports that are considered doubtful have just reached us that the enemy subsequently burned New Castle and Shepardsville. Advices say that Granger's command there was to-day attacked by rebel cavalry, who intended to burn the bridge. Granger repulsed them, killing 5 and taking 28 prisoners. Six hundred guerrillas attacked Owensboro on the 19th, in two bands.

Col. Netler attacked one band at 9 o'clock in the morning and five of our men were wounded. The rebels lost five killed. At noon we shelled the rebels and killed three, when they retreated. On the 20th Lieut. Col. Wood with 450 of the 1st Indiana cavalry, attacked, and after a desperate encounter, drove from Owensboro 800 rebels under Col. Martin, who lost 38 killed and 25 wounded. Federal loss three killed and eighteen wounded. We captured their army stores, provisions and seven prisoners.

Reliable advices from Cave city say that a portion of Buell's force attacked and repulsed Bragg's rear guard near Horse Cave, Thursday evening, upon learning which, Bragg is reported to have moved his army south from Munfordsville. No other particulars.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Saturday Evening, September 20.

The firing heard last evening in the direction of Williamsport turns out to have been a raid of Stuart's rebel cavalry. He crossed the Potomac on Friday night into Maryland at that point with his cavalry, one regiment of infantry and seventeen pieces of artillery. The force sent up to drive them back arrived near this town in the afternoon. The firing heard was principally from the rebel guns. During the night they recrossed into Virginia, and this morning they had disappeared from the opposite shore. No one hurt. The work of burying the dead is still going on. They average about 1,000 per day. To-morrow will probably finish it.

Maryland Heights were, yesterday, occupied by a federal force. Indications that the rebels are continuing their retreat into Virginia, leaving the line of the Potomac. Divine worship was held at headquarters this evening. Bishop Whipple, of Minnesota, officiating.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.

A Fort Monroe letter in the Herald reports that Com. Wilkes is there. Also gives an account of a skirmish at Franklin near Suffolk, between two companies of the 11th Pa. cavalry and two regiments, one of cavalry and one of infantry. Our force had two howitzers which drove the enemy off in a hurry. No loss on our side.

FREDERICK, Sept. 21.

The great bridge of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, over the Monocacy, east of Frederick, which was destroyed by the rebels, has been restored. This completes the road from Philadelphia to Baltimore and restores communication with Baltimore and Washington to Frederick and to Sandy Hook opposite Harper's Ferry.

The Harper's Ferry Matter.

It is still believed at Washington that there was treachery in the surrender of Harper's Ferry. Col. Miles is the same officer who was accused of drunkenness at Bull Run, and his neglect to bring up the reserve at that time lost us the battle. His conduct was such that it is incomprehensible how the government would again permit him to hold an important position. But all such traitors seem to bring influence enough to bear to screen them punishment. It is now stated positively that Miles ordered Ford three times to surrender the heights of Maryland, before he obeyed. However, the guilty parties will be discovered in time.

Gen. Meagher not Killed.

It was reported at first that Gen. Meagher was killed in the battle of Wednesday. It now turns out that he was not even wounded. His horse was shot and fell on him, stunning him for a time. He was carried off the field in a litter, which gave rise to the rumor that he was mortally wounded.

Sibley's Expedition Captured.

News has been received in New York, by way of Texas, that Sibley's troops which captured Santa Fe last summer, finally retreated towards El Paso. In the vicinity of Fort Fillmore they were intercepted by the troops from California, who, with Gen. Canby who was close at hand, defeated them, killing one-half and capturing the remainder, except about one hundred who escaped with Gen. Sibley and Col. Steele. These officers were afterwards assassinated by their own men, on account of their mismanagement and drunkenness.

Result of the Recent Battles.

The news from Gen. McClellan's army, to-day, renders it certain that the rebels have successfully escaped. They have not been attacked in flank by Sigel or Heintzelman, as was hoped, because, we presume, those generals were not ordered to perform such a duty. Instead of the rear of the rebel army being attacked their cavalry have recrossed the Potomac and returned without material harm. What is the result of the loss of 15,000 wounded and slain on our side? Perhaps an equal number on the side of the enemy. It does not bring us nearer to the end of the war. The whole campaign is to be fought over again, and more lives lost. It should not discourage us, for we must triumph, but it will not be until we do right, and inscribe LIBERTY on our banner as well as UNION.

Natchez Captured.

Com. Porter, with his steamer Essex, while passing Natchez about the 1st of this month, sent on shore for some ice, and his boat was fired upon. He immediately brought his guns to bear upon the town, for about two hours and a half, when it surrendered. He then passed down to Bayou Sara, and destroyed every house in it but two—one belonging to a Union man, and the other to a lady. The Essex had a fight with a battery of 34 heavy guns at Port Hudson, and completely silenced it. In this contest the iron-clad Essex was unharmed, although stationed not more than eighty feet from the battery.

The Victory at Iuka.

Gen. Rosecrans and his troops have won a decided victory at Iuka. The loss of the enemy will reach 750, while ours was 75 killed and about 250 wounded. Our forces also captured 500 prisoners, thirty-six pieces of artillery, besides small arms, tents, &c. The force on our side was 5,000; that of the enemy about 15,000.

It is probable that our Wisconsin 12th battery was in this battle, as they were stationed in the region where it occurred, and the dispatch says that a Wisconsin battery was present. The fifth Wisconsin battery has been at Corinth for some time, and it is possible that it may be the one referred to.

☞ The rebels burnt the pontoon bridge at Harper's Ferry, but were unable to destroy the railroad bridge, which is, however, damaged to some extent.

—Special dispatch to the New York Tribune.

The Great Battle of Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Sept. 18.

The following dispatch has been received from one of your special correspondents:

Battle-field of Sharpsburg, Md.,
Wednesday Evening, Sept. 17.

—The greatest battle of the war was fought to-day, lasting from daylight till dark, and closing without decisive result. The whole forces of McClellan and Lee were engaged for fourteen hours. Two hundred thousand men have fought with the utmost determination on both sides. Neither can claim a complete victory, but McClellan has partly carried the rebel position, holding most favorable ground for renewing the attack, and holding all the ground which was gained at any time during the fight.

All our own dead and wounded, and many of the enemy's are in our hands.

On the left of the rebel position, Hooker, Sumner and Franklin have crossed Antietam creek, and have driven the enemy from the ground they chose to cover their flanks in front of our batteries, and troops have steadily advanced and occupy to-night a range of hills considerably beyond those first taken.

On the rebel right, they have lost the bridge over the creek, which was carried after a hard fight, and Burnside has cross- with all his forces.

The result of the day's fight, therefore, is that the rebels have everywhere lost ground, their position is contracted, both flanks attacked with success, and their rear and only line of retreat seriously threatened.

After the brilliant victory on Sunday at South Mountain, near Middletown, McClellan pushed his army rapidly forward, sending cavalry and artillery out on the Hagerstown road, Burnside through Fox Gap to the Sharpsburg road, and the rest of his forces through Boonesboro to Keedysville, and thence to Sharpsburg.

On the crest of the hill this side of Sharpsburg, the enemy were discovered in great force. Their troops had been brought down from Hagerstown, up from Harper's Ferry, and part of the army held in Virginia as reserve. Lee, Jackson, Longstreet, Hill, and all the best generals left with them were there, and with all of their best troops.

Except occasiona artillery contests, the armies faced each other in quiet during the rest of Monday.

On Tuesday there was no movement on our side till toward night. The rebels had kept their batteries in position, but their infantry was withdrawn from view, and it was still uncertain whether they were retreating or reinforcing.

About 4 in the afternoon of Tuesday, Hooker was ordered to cross Antietam creek, at the upper ford on the right, with his whole corps, attack the enemy's left, and occupy a position on their flank. He crossed without opposition, sent forward cavalry skirmishers, who were speedily driven back, and then, advancing with his whole force about 6, took possession of strong ground, close to the rebel's left, and immediately became engaged with artillery and infantry. Darkness ended the fight with slight loss on either side, Hooker carrying and holding the woods from which the enemy's fire first came.

There were constant alarms during the night, the hostile pickets being close to each other all along the line. Early in the evening the rebels took to fighting among themselves, and several heavy volleys were delivered there before they discovered their mistake.

At daybreak the fight was renewed suddenly and vehemently, both sides opening fire together. The number and position of the rebel batteries the evening before had disclosed that they were in great force on the right, and word had been sent to McClellan to advance Sumner's corps during the night. It did not arrive on the field till 9 in the morning.

McClellan's plan of battle was briefly as follows: Hooker was to cross the creek on the right, as before stated; Sumner, Franklin, and Mansfield to co-operate with and sustain his attack. In front the batteries were to push forward with infantry supports, and an effort to be made to carry the hights on the left. Burnside was to cross the creek by the bridge, and attack the rebel right, moving on Sharpsburg also, which was in their rear, and thus cut off their retreat. Porter and Sykes were held in reserve. The plan, if successful, must result not merely in the defeat but the destruction or surrender of the rebel army. The ground is peculiar.

The rebel line was formed on a crescent-shaped ridge, which in front slopes down into an undulating valley irregularly broken by connecting ranges of hills. Behind the crest the rebel forces lay in uneven and strong positions, sheltered by ridges and hills, and especially strong on the flanks. Antietam Creek, a stream too deep to be forded except in very few places sweeps by the base of their position and protected it from assault.

McClellan's forces were first formed in front, afterward thrown to the right and left. There is little or no ground on our side equal in hight to the rebel position.

Hooker sustained, unaided, the attack on the rebel left force nearly four hours. His line had been formed the night before and fought to-day in the same order. Ricketts' division was on the left, Meade's Pennsylvania reserves in the center, Doubleday's division on the right. These terms are, of course, to be understood as referring only to Hooker's line, not to the whole field. There was artillery at all points. Meade gained ground in his first attack.

Ricketts also went forward through the woods in his front, and Doubleday, with his guns, held front against a heavy cannonade. Meade advancing, finally met a heavy body of fresh troops thrown suddenly and vigorously against him and was driven back over part of the ground he had just won. Ricketts' line was at the same time hard pressed and became deserted. Mansfield, who had come over the creek the night before, was ordered into the woods to Ricketts' support, and Hartsuff's brigade, part of Doubleday's command, was sent to sustain Meade. Mansfield took the greatest part of his troops to Ricketts' help, but they were unable to extend their line, and in the effort to push forward his men, Gen. Mansfield was mortally wounded. Gen. Hartsuff advanced to the relief of Meade with the 12th and 13th Massachusetts and another regiment. The Pennsylvania troops were retiring in haste and some confusion. Hartsuff seized a bridge in front of the field over which the rebels were pressing, and held it in splendid style for more than half an hour against a greatly superior attack. His men behaved most gallantly, standing on this exposed ground firing steadily and never wavering once.

Gen. Hartsuff was very soon severely wounded. His troops retained their position, and finally, by the precision and rapidity of their fire, compelling the enemy to retreat instantly, advanced in pursuit, while they had been engaged. Hooker ordered up Crawford's and Gordon's brigades to their support. Hartsuff retained the advance, and Crawford and Gordon followed in support. A rebel battery on the right, which had been most annoying by an enfilading fire, was about the same time silenced by Doubleday's guns, and Hooker ordered his whole line forward.

The rebels were driven through the cornfield again into the woods beyond, where they could not easily be dislodged without artillery. Gen. Hooker, who all the morning had kept himself under fire, and generally in the hottest of it, rode forward to examine the ground in front in order to plant a battery. As he rode up the hill he became a conspicuous mark for the rebel sharpshooters; their fire increased very suddenly, and Gen. Hooker was wounded in the left foot, a bullet passing entirely through it. The wound was excessively severe and painful, and he was compelled to leave the field. Three men were shot down by his side at the same moment he was wounded.

Up to this time the attack has been a success.—The hardest fought ground was in the undisputed possession of Hooker's troops, and his last order, as he was borne from the field, was, that Crawford's and Gordon's brigades should immediately advance and carry the woods to the right. The whole line had gone forward with the wildest cheering, and everything looked like a complete and speedy success. At this fortunate moment, Gen. Sumner arrived on the field at the head of his veteran corps. Pursuing the forward movement, he led his men immediately against the rebel line and to the support of Crawford. Sedgwick's division, the flower of the Peninsula army, advanced on the right, Richardson and French at a considerable interval on the left. The first volley from Sedgwick's troops was tremendous, but it was answered by a heavier one.

Crawford had found the rebels in great force in the woods, and was already in need of assistance. Sedgwick's flank also became exposed on the left in consequence of the distance between him and the other divisions.

The rebels perceived their advantages, and at the same time pressing Crawford and attacking on Sedgwick's, broke Crawford's which fell back in confusion on Sedgwick. The 34th New York on the left was forced to give way at the same time, and the woods were yielded to the enemy.

Gen. Sedgwick was severely wounded in the shoulder, leg and wrist, but refused to leave the field till his division retired.

Gen. Howard then took command, and ordered the division in the rear. Major Sedgwick, aid of Gen. Sedgwick, was shot through the body, but is not mortally wounded. Many of the regiments suffered most severely. The 15th Massachusetts lost nine out of seventeen officers, whose names are given in the list annexed. Col. Hinks, of the 19th Massachusetts, was killed. Col. Wistar, 1st California, was severely wounded. The 34th New York could gather but thirty-four men when rallied.

French and Richardson meantime held a position well to the left and less in advance and kept it. Gen. Richardson, not long after, was severely wounded in the shoulder while leading a bolting regiment. Gen. Dana, of Sedgwick's division, was wounded but not severely. Gen. Sumner found himself obliged by this reverse to withdraw his lines to their first position, where he held them firmly. He had been exposed during all the action to the hottest of the fire. Col. Revere of his staff was wounded in the arm; Capt. Audenried in the leg.

Gen. Franklin arrived with his corps about one o'clock, sending Gen. Slocum's division to the left and in front. General Smith's was advanced over the same ground which had just been lost. His gallant Maine and Vermont troops went in at double quick, driving the rebels before them, and on the fences and beyond the woods, and again took the point, this time not to be given up. This was accomplished by 3 o'clock.

Meanwhile the forces in front of the whole line had been gaining some ground. Hard fighting all along the line has continued at intervals through the day. French and Slocum were well toward the center. It was time to hear from Burnside, who had been long delayed in his effort to carry the bridge.

At 4 o'clock, McClellan sent orders to Burnside to cross at once, at all hazards, and capture or silence the battery in front. The bridge was captured in gallant style, but with loss of Col. Kingsbury and 500 killed and wounded. Burnside, when once across, advanced on the Rebel right, along the Sharpsburg road and up the slopes of the hill. A position of great importance was carried at first by his impetuous attack, but was afterward abandoned, as the Rebels were able to bring ten heavy masses of troops from the center and left to oppose Burnside.

Our attack on the left having ceased for the time, Sumner and Franklin were ordered by McClellan to hold their own, and the advance of Burnside was relied on to decide the day. Darkness was near before he was over the creek, and the forces against him too strong for his numbers. He, therefore, was oblige to content himself with defending the brigade and his position beyond, and the final attack was postponed till to-morrow. The fire on both sides died away gradually, and at 7 o'clock the battle was over for the day. Its result I have stated above. It was everywhere very desperately contested, and the loss on both sides is very large. Ten Generals on our side are killed and wounded.

I sent a list of killed and wounded officers and men, all that could be obtained to-night. The whole number connot be less than 10,000.

Death of Col. Bragg.

We learn that a dispatch was received in Foud du Lac yesterday, announcing that Lieut. Col. Edward S. Bragg of the 6th Wisconsin, was killed in the battle of Wednesday last. Col. Bragg was in command of the 6th regiment, Col. Cutler being absent on account of his wounds. That Col. B. conducted himself bravely and well, no one who knows him will ever doubt. He was well known to the people of this State as an able lawyer, and a most energetic man. He took up arms in the half of the Union at an early day, and has made an able and fearless officer. His loss will be severely felt by his many friends in this State. He leaves a young family, to whom the loss will be irreparable.—Madison Journal.

Legislative.

The Assembly has spent the day in committee of the whole on the bill allowing the volunteers to vote. Most of the time was occupied by frivolous amendments offered by the opponents of the bill, and the consequent voting and discussion to which they gave rise.—Madison Journal, Saturday.

DRAFTING IN WISCONSIN.—The Milwaukee Wisconsin, of Saturday, says: "Gov. Salomon telegraphed yesterday that four companies were needed for the 36th regiment, and asked that one of them be recruited in Milwaukee. He also said that drafting would be resorted to in Wisconsin, and soon too."

SALT LAKE, Sept. 22.

Chas. McBride, from Virginia City, arrived here yesterday. He is one of a party of fifteen bound for the states. The party was attacked by Snake Indians at City Rocks, Humboldt route, 150 miles north. They fought the Indians twenty miles, losing six killed, two wounded, and all their outfit. John Conner, John Sharpe, Benj. White, Jas. Snow, Wm. Davis and —— Goodman, killed; John Foster and Sam. Kelly, arms broken. Reports of Indian depredations northward are coming in daily, and much trouble is expected to late emigration.

Saturday Night's Report.

HEAD QUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC,
Saturday Morning, Sept. 20.

The rebel army has succeeded in making its escape from Maryland. They commenced to leave about dusk Thursday evening, and by daylight yesterday morning were all over except a small rear guard. They saved all their transportation and carried off all their wounded but about 300. Between 300 and 400 rebel stragglers were taken during the day by Pleasanton's cavalry, who took the advance. Nearly every house in Sharpsburg was struck by our shells. Two were burned. Citizens who remained escaped injury by staying in their cellars. The name given to this battle is the Antietan. After our forces occupied the whole field, the rebel loss was found to be far greater, particularly in killed, than was at first supposed.

Full 2,500 were found lying on the field, while a large number had been buried the the day before by their friends. Their loss, in killed and wounded, will not come far from 18,000 to 20,000. Gen. Clark, of the rebel army, was killed, and Gens. Ripley, Walker and Hays were wounded. The rebels, Thursday night, burnt the bridge and several houses at Harper's Ferry. Citizens of Sandy Hook were fleeing into the country, on Thursday night, to escape being impressed into the rebel service and carried into Virginia. Large details of men were made this morning to bury the remaining dead, which had become offensive.

Our troops are in excellent spirits at our result. The rebels are still visible on the opposite shore, in force. They have posted a large amount of artillery to prevent our forces from crossing the river. Officers of the army are unanimously of opinion that Hooker, for his gallantry and bravery, should be made a Brigadier General in the regular army, made vacant by the death of Mansfield.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 20.

No information has been received at headquarters here up to noon to day, from either of the armies in Maryland.

Private dispatches say the enemy is not to be seen at any point, and that McClellan is still in pursuit. The sick and wounded of our army are expected to reach here to-day from Hagerstown.

FREDERICK, Md., Sept. 20.

A gentleman who left Boonsboro last night says that the firing was between ours and the rebel batteries across the river, the latter endeavoring to prevent our pursuit. Many conflicting reports were received here during the day of skirmishing with the rear guard of the enemy, who were in full flight for the Potomac. A gentleman who left McClellan's headquarters before the messenger started, was informed that at 4 o'clock Burnside had crossed the Potomac, and was harrassing the rebels' rear.

Latest reports received are that the rebels were forced to destroy a large portion of their trains and spike and abandon much of their artillery to prevent falling into our hands, so closely were they pursued by the Union army.

General McClellan rode out towards the front at 11 o'clock, and was loudly cheered by the troops as he rode along.

CAIRO, Sept. 20.

Special to Chicago Journal.—Two hundred and ten additional negro women and children have just arrived from below. Some fifty white refugees from Mississippi and Alabama arrived last evening and went on this morning's train north. They are as utterly destitute and helpless as the negroes. They were shipped to this place at government expense, and from this place at the rate of two cents a mile, the government footing that bill also. Thus it will be seen that the aristocracy of the south not only crushes the negro, and makes him a public burthen, but that it reduces the non-slaveholding whites to the same level.

No arrivals from Memphis to day.

CAIRO, Sept. 20.

Gen. Rosecrans commenced moving from Rienzi towards Iuka yesterday morning. During the afternoon his advance came in contact with the enemy's pickets, when heavy skirmishing ensued which continued until nightfall. The fight was renewed in the morning and continued until nearly noon, when the enemy gave way, retreating in a southerly direction.

As yet we have but few particulars. Our loss is stated to be four or five hundred killed and wounded.

The enemy's loss is not ascertained, but is believed to be greater than ours. Gen. Little, formerly governor of Mississippi, is killed, and Gen. Whitefield is reported wounded and taken prisoner.

Rebels estimate the forces under Price at 15,000.

The battle took place two miles east of Iuka. Gen. Rosecrans is in pursuit of the enemy.

BUFFALO, Sept. 20.

The Board of Trade had a large and enthusiastic meeting this noon after change. Geo. S. Mazzard presided. Gen. Walbridge, of N. Y. addressed them at length. He urged the necessity of enlarging the facilities of water communication between the east and the west, so that our iron clad fleets could pass from the Mississippi river into the lakes and down the St. Lawrence or come through to the Hudson, as a great military necessity in the event of a foreign war; and demonstrated that by such increased means of transportation the west would be stimulated to augment the export of breadstuffs to such an extent they could place the same in Europe at a price below the ability of the cultivator to produce it, and that so soon as this was permanently accomplished it would guarantee perpetual peace between the continents.

Gen. Walbridge's address was received with great favor. He presented strong constitutional Union resolutions which were enthusiastically adopted.

Last Night's Report.

General Order, Navy Department, Sept 20

Commander Geo. Henry Preble, senior officer in command of blockading force off Mobile, having been guilty of neglect of duty in permitting the armed steamer Ovito to run the blockade, is, by order of the President, dismissed from the navy service from this date.

U. S. Steam Sloop of War Oneida,
Off Mobile, Sept. 4th, 1862.

To Hon. GIDEON WELLES, Sec. of Navy: Sir—I regret to inform you that a two-masted screw steamer, bearing an English red ensign and pennant, and carrying four quarter boats, a battery of eight broadside guns, one or two pivots, and having every appearance of an English man of-war, ran the blockade this afternoon, under the following circumstances: I had sent the Winona to windward to speak a schooner standing on under sail. The smoke of a steamer was discovered bearing about southeast, and standing directly for us. Observing she was burning black smoke, I immediately got under weigh and stood towards her, signaling to the Winona to chase at discretion.

We soon neared the stranger in company with the Winona, who, as she approached, gradually hauled to the windward. When abreast of her, and about 100 yards distant, I hailed him, but received no answer. I then fired a shot across his bows; he still ranged ahead without stopping, but still thinking him an English man-of-war, I fired two more shots across his bow, and then directed a shot at him which went over between his fore and main mast. He soon hauled down his flag and trained his guns to bear on us, but having no flag to fight under was afraid to fire. We continued firing at him, assisted by the Winona and one of the mortar schooners, but he made sail and by his superior speed and unparalled audacity, managed to escape us. We sent our shot all around and over him, and are certain that several of our shell and the Winona's struck him.

With great mortification, your obedient servant, (Signed)
GEO. HENRY PREBLE, Com'dr.
To Rear Admiral D. G. Farragut, Com'dg.

OMAHA, Sept. 20.

Messengers dispatched by acting Governor Paddock to the northern settlements of the territory two hundred miles from here, reports that the panic created by the massacres in Minnesota has entirely subsided; that the settlers had returned to their homes. There are now no hostile Indians within the limits of this territory, and not the remotest probability of any trouble to the settlers in any section from Indian depredations.

CAIRO, Sept. 21.

Special to Chicago Tribune.—I have received the following special dispatch from the manager of the Corinth office, in answer to a telegram in which I asked for a list of casualties among the federal officers in the late engagement:

HEADQUARTERS GEN GRANT, CORINTH, Sept. 21.

Our loss in the late battle is less than at first supposed, and that of the enemy much greater. Our loss in killed is seventy-five —wounded between two and three hundred. The enemy's loss in killed, wounded and missing is seven hundred and fifty.

Col. Bonner, of the 26th Missouri, is severely wounded, and Col. Chambers of the 16th Iowa slightly. Gen. Hamilton's aid-de camp was killed at the commencement of the battle.

The forces engaged were the 5th, 10th, 15th, 16th, 17th Iowa and 26th Missouri infantry, some Wisconsin battery, and I think Buell's battery. (Signed)
G. S. SKINNER, Operator.

IUKA, Sept. 20.

To Major General Halleck:—Rosecrans, with Stanley and Hamilton's division and Mizner's cavalry, attacked Price south of this village, two hours before dark yesterday, and had a sharp fight until night closed in; Ord was to the north with 5,000 men. Had some skirmishing with the enemy this morning. Fight renewed by Rosecranz, who was nearest town, but it was found that the enemy had been evacuating during the night. Hamilton's and Stanley's cavalry are in pursuit. Loss on either side in killed and wounded four to five hundred. The enemy's loss of tents, arms, etc., will be large. We have two hundred and fifty prisoners. I have reliable intelligence that it was Price's intention to move into East Tennessee. In this he has failed. Among the enemy's loss are Gen. Little, killed, and Gen. Whitford, wounded. Price's force was about 18,000.
(Signed) U. S. GRANT.

IUKA, Sept. 21.

Special to Chicago Tribune.—Col. Gifford, aid to the governor of Iowa, and W. Goodsmith, agent of the sanitary commission, have just arrived by special train from Corinth with three cars loaded with sanitary and hospital stores for the relief of the sick and wounded in the late battle here. This is the first train through since the battle.

CAIRO, Sept. 21.

Gen. Rosecrans has taken six batteries, thirty six pieces of cannon, and five hundred prisoners. Hurrah for E PLURIBUS UNUM!

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.

Special to Tribune.—We have just received a brief dispatch from one of our special correspondents, who returned this afternoon to Frederick from our advance lines. Heavy firing was going on all day yesterday. He says there was both cannonading and musketry, and many wounded were being brought in. Our troops had crossed the Potomac in large force, and were fighting on the other side. The rest of the army had advanced to the river. In the fighting so far, we had the decided advantage of the rebels. Yesterday we captured a whole brigade of them, 2,000 in number. This correspondent asserts, upon the testimony of his own eyes. When he left the field at midnight, Saturday, firing had not ceased.

Special to the Times, dated on the Potomac opposite Shepardstown, Saturday, 3 p. m., says: In a reconnoisance this morning the 118th Pennsylvania had 11 killed and 120 wounded, including Col. Provost and Adjt. McKean wounded. There was some loss in other regiments. A number are reported taken prisoners. On Saturday the enemy crossed at Williamsport, but were driven back by the advance of our army, assisted by Pennsylvania militia, the attack at Black's Ford disturbing their movement. Williamsport is now occupied by us in strong force. The rebels hoped, in crossing here, to turn McClellan's right flank, but failed.

The Herald's special reports the loss of the 4th Michigan in their reconnoisance as Lieut. Gordon, company I, killed, and eight privates wounded. Acting Brig. Barnes' brigade, which subsequently made a reconnoisance, had a fight with the enemy.—Hearing cannonading and not knowing but a general engagement might ensue, hosts of regiments came hurrying towards the river, and directly opposite Shepardstown was Griffin's brigade, every moment expecting Morrill would order them across the river. Sykes also went across the river with the regiments attached to his command, and during the battle was prominent in the thickest of the fight.

FREDERICK, Sept. 20, 10 P. M.

Herald's special.—A dispatch dated opposite Shepardstown, this noon, says, "Everything quiet here, to day!" During last night there was considerable firing between our pickets and those of the enemy on the other side of the river. At six o'clock this morning a number of the enemy, supposed to be a brigade, showed themselves on the opposite side, and poured a volley of musketry into our army camp. Our batteries, Capt. Walters', Martin's and Hazlett's, soon opened, concentrating their fire on the rebels, causing them to disappear. This morning a flag of truce was sent over the river asking permission to bury our dead, which was granted, and it is believed the enemy must be out of artillery ammunition, from their not responding to our guns. For some time there has not been a rebel seen on the opposite bank. It is thought they have all fallen back. It would not be proper to state the disposition or movements of our troops, but it is probable that important news may be expected from McClellan's army within the next two or three days.

Gen. Couch's division, which left Harper's Ferry at 10 o'clock this morning, report everything quiet there, and no signs of rebel forces in that vicinity. Large numbers of rebel soldiers are scattered about the mountains, and surrendering themselves to our officers. The rebel army appears to be completely demoralized, and in process of dispersion. Hundreds of wounded continue to pass through here hourly, enroute north. It is believed by citizens that the rebels lost at least 5000 men by desertion during the raid into Maryland. There were scarcely sufficient recruits obtained to form a company.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.

Special to Herald.—A number of wounded officers arrived here during the day, among them Hooker, his wound is dangerous only so far as it is liable to superinduce lockjaw. The General is attended by his staff. As Mr. Chase and other members of the cabinet manifest apprehensions touching the condition of Hooker, it is inferred that it is intended to give him an important command, perhaps the western department. The President, to day, appointed Hooker a Brigadier General in the regular army, in recognition of his valuable services.

Frigate Hartford, Pensacola Bay, Sept 18.

SIR: I regret to be compelled again to make another mortifying acknowledgment of apparent neglect, namely, the running of the blockade at Mobile by a 10 gun gunboat, supposed to be Layerd's gunboat, Capt. Bullock. You will perceive, however, from Capt. Preble's report, herein enclosed, that there was no want of vigilance. They saw her in good time, but failed to sink or capture her. Why Capt. Preble did not fire into her after she failed to stop or answer his hail, I cannot imagine. The commander of the Rachael Seaman, says, and I believe they all admit, that there never was a fairer opportunity for stopping a vessel until she passed them. Then, however, when it was too late, they began firing, the Oneida first, the Winona next, and the Rachael Seaman, last.

Very respectfully your ob't serv't,
D. G. FARRAGUT,
Rear Admiral, Commanding West Gulf Squadron.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.

Gov. Curtin telegraphs from Hagerstown, notifying all military organizations to wait at home for further orders. Probably all danger is removed, the rebel army being in full retreat up the Shenandoah.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.

Satisfactory evidence having been submitted that Capt. Salomon J. Houck, 71st Ohio volunteers, did not adv se the surrender of Clarksville, Tenn., that he signed the card under a misapprehension of its contents, the president directs that so much of general order No. 120, as cashiered him, be revoked.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 21.

A dispatch from Lagrange says, to day Geo. Jesse, with 200 rebel cavalry, attacked at Newcastle 120 of Robt. Morris' home guard cavalry. Morris, without firing a gun, surrendered the men, horses, and 300 stand of arms.

Reports that are considered doubtful have just reached us that the enemy subsequently burned New Castle and Shepardsville. Advices say that Granger's command there was to day attacked by rebel cavalry, who intended to burn the bridge. Granger repulsed them, killing 5 and taking 28 prisoners. Six hundred guerrillas attacked Owensboro on the 19th, in two bands.

Col. Netler attacked one band at 9 o'clock in the morning and five of our men were wounded. The rebels lost five killed. At noon we shelled the rebels and killed three, when they retreated. On the 20th Lieut. Col. Wood with 150 of the 1st Indiana cavalry, attacked, and after a desperate encounter, drove from Owensboro 800 rebels under Col. Martin, who lost 38 killed and 25 wounded. Federal loss three killed and eighteen wounded. We captured their army stores, provisions and seven prisoners.

Reliable advices from Cave city say that a portion of Buell's force attacked and repulsed Bragg's rear guard near Horse Cave, Thursday, evening, upon learning which, Bragg is reported to have moved his army south from Munfordsville. No other particulars.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC,
Saturday Evening, September 20

The firing heard last evening in the direction of Williamsport turns out to have been a raid of Stuart's rebel cavalry. He crossed the Potomac on Friday night into Maryland at that point with his cavalry, one regiment of infantry and seventeen pieces of artillery. The force sent up to drive them back arrived near this town in the afternoon. The firing heard was principally from the rebel guns. During the night they recrossed into Virginia, and this morning they had disappeared from the opposite shore. No one hurt. The work of burying the dead is still going on. They average about 1,000 per day. To-morrow will probably finish it.

Maryland Heights were, yesterday, occupied by a federal force. Indications that the rebels are continuing their retreat into Virginia, leaving the line of the Potomac. Divine worship was held at headquarters this evening. Bishop Whipple, of Minnesota, officiating.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.

A Fort Monroe letter in the Herald reports that Com. Wilkes is there. Also gives an account of a skirmish at Franklin near Suffolk, between two companies of the 11th Pa. cavalry and two regiments, one of cavalry and one of infantry. Our force had two howitzers which drove the enemy off in a hurry. No loss on our side.

FREDERICK, Sept. 21.

The great bridge of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, over the Monocacy, east of Frederick, which was destroyed by the rebels, has been restored. This completes the road from Philadelphia to Baltimore and restores communication with Baltimore and Washington to Frederick and to Sandy Hook opposite Harper's Ferry.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.

Judson's Mountain Herb Pills.—How strange and wonderful it often seems to us that a medicine composed of simple mountain herbs and roots, should so certainly search out and cure disease. How surprising that the Indians should know and preserve so long and well a secret that has escaped the search of the greatest physicians the world has ever seen. True, the ancient inhabitants of Mexico were a strange race, found by the Spaniards living in large cities, and allowing for their strange customs and religion as well civilized as their conquerors. In the words of a writer of some celebrity, "They have perished from the earth, their cities are gigantic piles of ruins, their Kings and Princes so mighty in their life, are forgotten; their ruins and their medicine alone are left." The united testimony of all intelligent persons is, that JUDSON'S MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS are the most successful medicine in the world in curing disease.

OVER THE POST OFFICE.

THERE is nothing so much sought for by the public as a practical Sewing Machine, one that is

Simple, Strong & Reliable,

One that will run for years without the annoyance of being out of repair; one that is noiseless and swift in motion; also that makes the stitch as you want it, alike on both sides of the fabric; such are the machines of the COMPANY.

Who take pleasure in placing their Machines before the public, and unhesitatingly say they are the best in the world, and openly and publicly challenge machines of any and all manufactures to do as large a range of work as can easily be done on one of these machines. They make

and have all the advantage of a reversible feed motion, which carries the work either way, which, together with making all the four stitches, can be done whilst the machine is in motion; the saving of time in stopping to change the length of stitch, is obviated by this machine.

Any correspondence regarding our Machines will be promptly answered. Enclose a Letter stamp and we will send circular and sample of work by return mail.

BOURBON WHISKEY

FOR

Medical Use.

Circular to Physicians and Others.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 1, 1862.

The undersigned respectfully calls the attention of the Medical Faculty of the United States, to the following correspondence between a number of the most respectable and influential physicians of New York and Brooklyn, and the writer. WM. T. CUTTER, JR.

NEW YORK, May 1, 1861.

Mr. Wm. T. Cutter, Jr., Louisville, Ky:—

DEAR SIR:—The great difficulty experienced in procuring Brandy sufficiently pure for medicinal purposes, has induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whisky as a substitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality.

Presuming that your residence in the vicinity of the manufacturers of Whisky in Kentucky, as well as your skill as a chemist, will enable you to select a reliable article, and having full confidence in your integrity, we are led to enquire whether you will not aid us in having this market supplied, through an Agency, with the best quality of Pure Old Bourbon Whisky for the use of the sick. Drs. Valentine Mott, Willard Parker, and others:

GENTLEMEN:—Your letter of May 1st has been received. In accordance with your wishes, I have made arrangements to supply your city and vicinity with a pure article of copper-distilled Bourbon Whisky, which I trust will fully meet the requirements of your letter. All orders addressed to Mr. John M. Carter, (late Druggist and Apothecary of this city,) now of New York, 176 Washington street, will be promptly attended to.

Thanking you for your kind expressions of confidence, &c., I remain, very respectfully, yours truly,
